Managed Print Services

Maximise the effectiveness & efficiency of your print infrastructure

Get more from your mission-critical print technology.

Multifunctional Devices (MFDs) that print, copy and scan are the cornerstone of workplace technology. They provide rapid, reliable and high-quality printing for your teams, while being the gateway to digital document management and workflow processes.

As the largest independent UK managed print services provider of Canon, Sharp, Ricoh, Konica Minolta devices and more, we're expertly placed to supply, manage and maintain your MFDs so they're efficient, secure and always ready.

Choose the technology that fits

Think about your current and future needs and work with us to select the best print technology. Building an effective print, copy and scan capability requires matching your business requirements to the right hardware and software. We'll factor-in your print volumes and patterns, we'll evaluate how much you scan and process digital documents, we'll look at integrations with systems and processes and craft a managed print service that fits your needs and budget.

We're flexible, independent and we'll help you choose a solution from a range of manufacturers.

Trusted expertise

Trust us with your mission-critical print technology and you'll be at the heart of everything we do. Our managed print services focus on service excellence throughout the customer experience: from our expert engineers who provide outstanding onsite service to our customer service teams who deliver rapid, high-quality support.

We'll manage, maintain and optimise your print capability while you focus on the business.

Give your teams the documents & information they need to stay productive

Traditional paper-based processes and a fragmented approach to electronic document management can be barriers to effectiveness – especially when your teams work remotely.

An Information Management system will capture, organise, distribute and process a broad range of documents and data. You can use this workflow to streamline business processes and give your people access to the right information anytime, anywhere.

Secure and protect your documents and data

With the relentless rise of cybercrime and the move to more flexible working environments, the security and protection of your precious data and documents is critical. We'll help you take a robust and compliant approach to information management security – with capabilities such as: digital archiving, file encryption, multi-factor authentication, data-loss prevention and more.

We'll make sure your most valuable information assets are properly defended and always available.

Scan, organise and process paper documents in your digital workflow.

Capturing and integrating paper assets into your information management system will remain a critical part of your operations.

We'll ensure your teams can process invoices, applications and other paper documents from any location. We'll integrate your multifunctional devices (MFDs) to provide rapid scanning and provide onward processing with smart capabilities such as: OCR, automatic classification, advanced data extraction and more...

Give your remote workers everything they need to be effective

Print, prepare and post outbound mail at the click of a button.

Relying on office-based technology to process outbound mail can impact your ability to stay responsive to your customers – especially when your teams work remotely. We can provide a Hybrid Mail service that allows your people to send documents to be printed, prepared and posted, wherever they are. It's secure, GDPR compliant – with workflow, inbuilt auditing, cost monitoring and more...

We'll help you dispatch key documentation on time, whatever challenges you're facing.

Digitise and accelerate inbound mail handling and workflow.

Handling and directing inbound mail to your remote workers can be problematic. We'll help you build a cutting-edge digital mailroom capability that captures, digitises, organises and routes inbound mail to the right teams and individuals for processing. You can use intelligent document categorisation and information capture to accelerate workflow and save time in responding to invoices, applications and more...

We'll make sure you can keep processing inbound mail no matter what.

Give your teams the power to capture and digitise documents and mail wherever they are.

If you can't access your on-site scanners, it's harder to digitise documents and inbound mail. We can keep you productive with two offsite scanning options: a portable 'ScanPOD' system that can be located anywhere – or – a fully-outsourced scanning service with optional inbound mail redirection. Both offer rapid, secure scanning, automated filing, workflow integration and more...

Telecoms & IT

Give your people the power to perform

The right technology infrastructure can transform the effectiveness, efficiency and agility of your organisation. It can make your people more productive and improve customer satisfaction and team morale. We can partner with you to design, deliver and support your digital foundation for business success.

Make sure your teams and customers stay connected and collaborative.

Traditional on-premise telephony is costly, inflexible and limiting for remote employees. We can connect you to our cloud telephony platform – delivering an enriched communications experience for your people, no matter where they are.

Using just an internet connection, you'll get all the capability of traditional telephony, plus enhanced collaboration capabilities like Microsoft Teams integration, messaging, conferencing and more...

We'll provide enhanced communications for your people while reducing costs and complexity.

Make and take calls directly within Microsoft Teams.

Many organisations are accelerating their plans to transform into more agile working environments for their people. Microsoft Teams is often a critical component of that transformation. By connecting your customerfacing telephony capability with MS Teams, you'll enable your staff to communicate and collaborate, whether they're in the office, or on the move.

We'll help you embrace a streamlined and unified approach to communication.
